Meeting
Welcomed
By Proud

By United Press International
The speaker of the Nebraska Legislature, Richard F. Proud of Omaha, said Thursday he would be happy to meet with President Nixon to express feelings on national problems.

"If he agrees to a meeting, I would go," Proud said.

"If I can in some way convey the feelings of Nebraska, I will be happy to meet with him," he added.

However, Proud hasn't received any official word from the White House that the President has agreed to see him. The only indication of an agreement was an announcement made by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., saying a meeting had been arranged.

But Proud wanted to know whether that meant only he would be allowed to meet with the President or whether any or all other state legislators would be allowed to accompany him.

'See All Of Us'

"I was hopeful he would see us all," the speaker said.

Proud withheld for the time being any comments on the situation to his fellow legislators pending receipt of a formal reply from the White House to his telegram of Wednesday night.

Before Proud learned of the Curtis announcement from newsmen, the Legislature had agreed to sideline for the time being plans for a mass migration to Washington as had been proposed Wednesday.

The decision to sideline was made in view of an apparent agreement on the independent trucker situation.

'Help Settle Strike'

"Our main objective was to see if we couldn't do something to help settle the strike," Proud said, adding he hoped the possibility of at least 39 of Nebraska's 49 legislators making a trip to Washington might have had some small part in the settlement.

When the 39 senators said they would go and four more indicated they might, they were interested in expressing views on the energy crisis in general and the trucker situation in particular.

The legislators said they felt the viewpoints of those outside the nation's capital weren't being heard.

Proud originated the idea of sending a delegation to Washington to express midlands concerns, saying he didn't feel two resolutions passed by the Unicameral on the trucker situation meant anything to anyone in Washington.

Sen. David Stahmer of Omaha said he thought Proud "deserves credit for the best idea I've heard in the years I've been down here."

The original decision made by the lawmakers Wednesday was to make the mass migration with or without a meeting with the President.

Committee Sets Second School Lands Hearing

By United Press International

The Legislature's Agriculture Committee decided Tuesday to take no hasty action on making changes in state school land laws and scheduled a second hearing on Feb. 15 on a bill seeking changes.

"We've got a problem that is really serious and complicated," said Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, committee chairman, in suggesting a second hearing on Neigh Sen. John De Camp's LB894.

The bill proposes allowing the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds to establish a cropsharing program as an alternative to cash in advance rent.

On the surface, Schmit said the idea might appear okay.

Bike Reflector Bill Given OK On First Round

The Legislature gave first-round floor approval Thursday to a bill that would require all bicycles sold in the state to have reflective devices on the wheels and pedals.

The law would not take effect until Jan. 1, 1976. Originally, the bill was to include all bicycles operated in the state, but it was amended so that it would apply only to those sold.

State Sen. John Cavanaugh of Omaha said the law would apply to used bicycles sold privately.

The bill would require reflectors on the pedals and reflective bands on the wheels or tires.

Pay Raise Rollback Bill Backed

By United Press International Douglas County Commissioner P. J. Morgan told a legislative committee Thursday that one way or another he wanted the salaries of the board rolled back to $12,000 a year.

Before the Legislature's Government Committee was Omaha Sen. Duke Snyder's LB950, which would by state law set the Douglas County board salaries at $12,000 a year.

Earlier, the board increased its salaries to $15,000 a year and then adopted a resolution to lower them again. However, an attorney general's opinion held the lowering action to be void.

"I do want it (the pay raise) rescinded and if it takes this bill to do it, that's fine," Morgan said.

But in addition to lowering the salaries, the bill would also require that any future pay raises would have to go to the voters for ratification.

Morgan said he opposed that part personally because he didn't mind answering to the voters for his actions on salaries or any other issue when he was up for re-election.

Sen. Leslie Stull of Alliance suggested maybe the Legislature should set county board salaries.

"I think it was a mistake to give this authority to the boards," Stull said.

Morgan said he wouldn't necessarily object to the idea.

Taxi Fares Hiked

TOKYO (AP) — Tokyo taxi fares went up from 56 to 73 cents for the first 1.2 miles, prompting many travelers to use other means of transportation. Similar rates went into effect in four other major cities. Higher fuel costs were blamed for the fare hikes.

Testimony On Dormitory Liquor Divided

By BOB GUNTHER

Star Staff Writer

Opinions on a bill to allow liquor in college dormitories were divided according to age at a public hearing Thursday before the Legislature's Miscellaneous Subjects Committee.

An overflow crowd of 250 students told senators that youth who are of legal age should not be denied their rights simply because they are students.

Ann Henry, president of the Associated Students of the University of Nebraska (ASUN), said the issue in LB783 is not moral but legal.

'Legal Rights'

Another ASUN representative, Conrad Zutavern, said students "are not asking for a special privilege, but for the restoration of our legal rights."

A number of older Nebraskans appeared to remind the committee that alcohol is the most abused drug in our society and said they failed to see how allowing the sale of liquor on college campuses and its consumption in dormitories would enhance the educational process.

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa, who attended NU in 1932-36 when smoking was not allowed on campus, said liquor on campus could lead immature students "into temptation."

"Liquor is at the bottom of a lot of crimes," Nore said.

"I don't see why we should condone this drug which is probably the worst drug we have."

Autonomy Suggested

Aller Burkhardt, a member of the Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College Board urged legislators to leave the decision on liquor to the governing board of each institution.

Kermit Hansen of Omaha appeared on behalf of the NU Regents and told the committee that five of the eight Regents have voted down two proposals during the last year to allow liquor on campus.

The committee took no action on the bill, but Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff advised the students to continue to pressure the Legislature if the time comes for action on the floor.

"Fill the galleries, fill the hallways and buttonhole each senator and tell him why you want the bill," Carpenter said.

"That's what it takes to get bills passed."

Following Carpenter's lecture, a co-sponsor of the bill, Sen. John Cavanaugh of Omaha, reassured the students that Carpenter's talk was "well worth" any classes they may have missed to attend the hearing.

Campaign Spending Limits Are Proposed

By The Associated Press

Gov. J. James Exon sent to the Legislature Thursday his plan for limiting political campaign spending.

Sen. Richard Fellman of Omaha delivered the bill, LB1022, for the Democratic chief executive.

For governor and lieutenant governor, the bill sets a $50,000 limit on the amount each may spend in a primary election campaign, and permits the two together to spend no more than $100,000 in a general election.

Candidates for secretary of state, state treasurer, state auditor or attorney general could spend no more than $60,000 each in the general election, $30,000 in the primary.

Public service commission candidates could spend $25,000 in the general election, $12,500 in the primary.

Candidates for the Legislature could spend $5,000 each in the general election, $2,500 in the primary.

Violators would be guilty of a misdemeanor and could be fined up to five times the amount of the excess expenditures, but not less than $1,000.

Candidates for secretary of state, state treasurer, state auditor or attorney general could spend no more than $60,000 each in the general election, $30,000 in the primary.

Significantly, an alternative could be removal from office, at the discretion of the court.

10-Cent Bus Fare Limit For Elderly Is Proposed

By The Associated Press

A new bill setting a 10-cent limit on bus fares which cities or other political subdivisions operating transit systems can charge the elderly was introduced in the legislature Thursday.

The measure, LB1021, is designed to substitute for an amendment applied to a separate pending bill.

Omaha, Lincoln and Grand Island are among cities operating bus transit systems.

The new bill applies the 10-cent fare limit to persons 65 or older.

Still another bill containing the 10-cent provision was endorsed and sent to the floor

Corporation Farm Reports Bill Introduced

State Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha was successful in introducing a bill Thursday that would require corporate farms to make annual reports on their activities.

The reports would include the acreage owned by the corporation and the owners of the corporation.

Chambers said he was attempting to keep corporations from taking over family farms.

Sen. Lorain Schmit of Bellwood called the measure window dressing and said it would do nothing to slow the trend toward corporate farming.

Woman To Run For Legislature

Evelyn F. Kusek of Columbus filed Thursday for the legislative seat of Herb Nore of Genoa.

Nore said he would not run again for the Legislature, but might run for Congress.

Nore said she was a fine woman and had served on the Columbus City Council for about 12 years. He said he would not make an endorsement, however.

Education Board Plan Is Killed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer
At the urging of higher education board members, and with the consent of Sen. Dave Stahmer of Omaha, the Legislature's Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee Thursday killed a proposal to establish a single governing board for post-high school institutions in the state.

The bill, sponsored by Stahmer, proposed a vote of the people on a constitutional amendment to create a 12-member board to govern the University of Nebraska, the state colleges and technical community colleges.

The measure, LB627, fell on a 4-1 count.

Members of the current governing boards of the three types of post-secondary institutions asked the committee for at least one more year in which to develop their voluntary cooperative efforts.

The institutions now work cooperatively within the voluntary Council for Coordination of Public Post-Secondary Education in Nebraska. NU Regent Robert Koeft of Grand Island explained.

Stuck in committee on a 3-3 split was LB619, Sen. Terry Carpenter's proposed constitutional amendment to permit homestead-type exemptions for renters in the form of tax credits.

With the permission of Carpenter, State Tax Commissioner William Peters proposed that the bill be broadened to include Gov. J. James Exon's previous proposals to allow a limited type of personal property tax exemption in the form of direct rebates.

Amendments presented by Peters would also rewrite the homestead tax revision authority to allow total exemptions for certain classes of homeowners. A Carpenter bill, LB613, is attempting to provide 100% exemptions for elderly Nebraskans living on a limited income if the value of their home does not exceed $15,000.

Sens. Gary Anderson of Axtell, Jules Burbach of Crofton and Orval Keyes of Springfield attempted to advance LB619 to the floor for full debate.

Meat Export Restrictions Are Opposed

Kansas City (AP) — Restrictions on the export of meat is not in the best interests of U.S. cattlemen, the president of the United States-Japan Trade Council said Thursday.

Speaking at the 29th annual convention of the National Livestock Feeders Association, Nelson A. Stitt, Washington, D.C., told stockmen attempts should be made to avoid interruptions in the supply of U.S. agricultural products to maintain Japanese confidence in this country's reliability as a supplier.

The Japanese are extremely anxious to receive a reliable supply of meats and other farm products from U.S. agriculture, he said, but the government's ordering of a soybean embargo in 1973 had "raised doubts and suspicions among the Japanese people" about the reliability of supplies from this country.

"The long-term interest of the United States lies in maintaining its position as the predominant agricultural supplier to Japan and other foreign markets," Stitt said.

$11,000
Collected
By AUF

Officers of the All-University Fund (AUF) Thursday announced that more than $11,000 had been collected this year for donation to three charities and for emergency charity use throughout the year.

AUF is a student organization that raises funds from students and faculty members at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Approximately one-fourth of the $11,365 raised this year will go to each of three organizations — Meals on Wheels, National Camps for Blind Children and the Lancaster Red Cross.

Another quarter of the total will go into an emergency use fund.

Checks representing the donations will be presented Monday afternoon to the three organizations by Mrs. Pat Exon, Nebraska's first lady, and AUF officers.

Phi Mu and Alpha Omicron Pi sororities, Acacia fraternity and Burr-Fedde dormitory will also be honored as top fund-raisers in this year's drive, said Blaine Camp, AUF vice president.

Winnebago Tribe Eyes $4.9 Million

Winnebago, (UPI) — Members of the Winnebago Tribe of Nebraska will hold a meeting next month to discuss the handling of tribal funds.

The meeting, to be held March 2 at the Winnebago Reform Church here, is aimed at discussing and developing programs for disbursing tribal judgement funds which now total $4,934,962.

The Wisconsin business committee and the Nebraska tribal council have agreed to split the funds on a tribal population basis.

Under law, a tribal spokesman explained, each group may put down up to 80% of its share to each enrolled tribal member.

The remaining 20% will be used for programs developed at the general meeting next month.

Any tribal member who cannot attend the meeting should send a letter listing specific suggestions for use of the money. His written proposal will then be presented to those present.

Money Given To Colleges By Box Butte

Scottsbluff (AP) — Box Butte County has turned over tax money withheld from the Western Nebraska Technical Community College area following the filing of a lawsuit by the area board.

Area President William Ptacek said he received a check for $14,855 Wednesday. He said the suit would be withdrawn.

Ptacek said eight other counties are still withholding the tax money from the colleges and suits will be filed against all of them if the money is not received soon.

Colleges in the district are Nebraska Western at Scottsbluff, West Nebraska Technical at Sidney and the Alliance School of Practical Nursing.

The Box Butte County Board of Commissioners voted last Dec. 17 to retain all taxes collected for the college district pending the outcome of litigation over the constitutionality of the financing for the colleges.

However, the resolution was withdrawn after a recent meeting with an attorney for the college district.

Hedges, Retired McCook Man, Dies In Colorado

McCook (UPI) — Funeral services were being arranged Wednesday for a retired Bureau of Reclamation official who died in Colorado from an apparent heart attack.

Authorities said Winston Hedges, 56, died at Estes Park, Colo., where he was vacationing with his wife.

Hedges was project manager for the bureau's McCook office until he retired last month after 25 years of service with the bureau and a total of 33 years with the U.S. government.

Hedges directed the development of several bureau projects in southwest Nebraska, including the Enders Reservoir and Harry Strunk Lake in addition to projects in portions of Kansas and Colorado.

He is survived by his widow and three children.

Goals And Policies Unit Backs Initial DAC Plan

The Goals and Policies Committee has given its blessing to the first of three phases in carrying out the Downtown Advisory Committee's (DAC) goals for downtown Lincoln.

The Goals and Policies Committee consists of 100 to 200 interested Lancaster County residents who have worked on future plans for the metropolitan area.

About 80 committee members met Thursday with Bob Teska and John Lockner, representatives of the Chicago consulting firm of Barton-Ashman & Associates.

Using a series of slides to compare downtown Lincoln as it is now to their visions of it in the future, the Chicago consultants explained the underlying "goals and principles" of the DAC project.

Lockner, executive on the Central Lincoln Project, praised the Goals and Policies Committee for its studies to help update the comprehensive plan.

"We find your statements (goals) are in support of a healthy, viable downtown, something we haven't found in many cities," Lockner said.

He added that what his firm has proposed "should reinforce what you (Goals and Policies Committee members) have recommended."

In other business, the committee unanimously accepted an agreement between county and city officials establishing a permanent Goals and Policies Committee.

Acknowledged if any other communities in Lancaster County are included in the agreement, Planning Director Doug Brodgen said that at the time the committee was organized, letters were sent inviting nearby villages to take part.

"But elected officials declined to do so," Brodgen said.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf suggested that those villages were automatically included in the agreement because funds for committee activities come out of the combined City-County Planning Commission budget.

County Commissioner Jan Gauger disagreed. She said the County Board can't formally represent any village, because "they are separate, legal entities."

NPPD said no immediate construction would be needed to provide power to Gering.

Gering OKs 25-Year Pact With NPPD

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—The City of Gering has approved a 25-year interconnection agreement with the Nebraska Public Power District, NPPD said Thursday.

Under the terms of the agreement, NPPD has agreed to provide Gering with electrical power to serve a portion of its distribution system recently acquired from Terrytown and to sell the city load growth power when needed.

Previously, Gering's entire electrical load had been supplied by the Bureau of Reclamation. The bureau has notified customers that additional firm power would not be available in the future.

NPPD said no immediate construction would be needed to provide power to Gering.

Demo Chief Backs McGovern In Re-Election Bid For Senate

Rapid City, S.D. (UPI)—Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss has called George McGovern, the party's 1972 presidential candidate, a "dedicated and responsible" politician . . . who waged a courageous campaign embodying the principles of open participation."

McGovern failed to carry his home state during his presidential bid and three Republicans are expected to compete for the chance to oppose him.

Strauss traveled to South Dakota to drum up support for McGovern, considered to be in trouble in his bid for re-election to the Senate.

Canadian Government Suggests Boost In Price For Crude Oil

Toronto (AP)—The Canadian government is suggesting that the wellhead price for Canadian crude oil be "phased" to $8 a barrel by 1976, energy Minister Donald MacDonald told a news conference.

The price of western Canadian crude is currently frozen at about $4 a barrel until April 1, when a federal-provincial committee is expected to increase it.

But Safe Was Empty

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Two youngsters burst into a warehouse waving pistols and ordered the company safe opened, police said. The manager told them the safe was empty and opened it to prove his point. "Sorry to have disturbed you," the would-be robbers said politely, and left.

Tripoli, Libya (AP)—Libya rejected requests by some black African leaders for lower oil prices, diplomatic sources in Tripoli reported.

POSTCARD

by

Stan Delaplane

San Francisco — Not many of us old-time knights left these liberated days. I mean the courtly types who said: "Stand aside, doll, while I have a go at that fire-breathing dragon."

Anyway, I put on my knight's ribbon the other day and went up to the winey Napa Valley.

The tender vines are ready to bud out in the California wine valleys. A green promise of the grapes we will jump on come smoky autumn.

The main thing to remember about wine is not that you drink white with the fish and red with the meat. Not at all.

Never mind should it be room temperature — this fallacy depends on the temperature of your room. Which naturally varies according to whether the furnace is working. And that blows that rule.

The rule on wine is to handle it with a flair.

That is what we Chevaliers learn at knight school.

elegant side of those golden rails, you are a member of the Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevin.

This translates directly as "The Brotherhood of Knights of Winetasting."

Welcome, Brother! Red or white?

One thing you learn at knight school about wine is that it is touchy and sensitive. Something like a newspaper column writer.

A wine man told me: "I like to think of wine when it is young like a young man of 21, just getting his strength and wisdom."

(Does wine ever look back on the good old days and say: 'I wish I were 21 again'?)

The wine then proceeds to "mature." It puts a small plaster on the house and sends the kids to a satisfactory school. It has a two-car garage with only one car but hopes to get another to run down to the grocery store.

The wine has it made, in other words.

This is the time to drink it.

The greatest press agent for wine was a Persian tippler by the name of Omar Khayyam.

He was born about 1070 — that was an excellent year. (But it turned a little corky as it matured.)

Anyway, Omar stayed on the milk bottle until he was about six months. He then slipped off to the grape. Stayed that way for the rest of his life.

Between times, he wrote poetry:

"A book of verses underneath the bough,

"A loaf of bread, a jug of red

and thou

"If you and I, my dear, could have our wish

"We wish they wouldn't serve red wine with the fish."

That is where we knights come in. We come in and have the wine steward uncork the bottle.

The steward sniffs the cork. I never knew why and was afraid to ask in knight school for fear they would flunk me out. Anyway, he sniffs the cork and looks satisfied. (I never saw one look dissatisfied.)

He pours a little in your glass — just a dollop.

Now you roll this around in the bottom of the glass. You sniff it. You taste it and let it bounce on your tongue. You put down the glass and say:

"Just a shade short of maturity. But an excellent bouquet."

If you leave any in the bottle, the chef gets it with his dinner.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

San Francisco — Not many of us old-time knights left these liberated days. I mean the courtly types who said: "Stand aside, doll, while I have a go at that fire-breathing dragon."

Anyway, I put on my knight's ribbon the other day and went up to the winey Napa Valley.

The tender vines are ready to bud out in the California wine valleys. A green promise of the grapes we will jump on come smoky autumn.

The main thing to remember about wine is not that you drink white with the fish and red with the meat. Not at all.

Never mind should it be room temperature — this fallacy depends on the temperature of your room. Which naturally varies according to whether the furnace is working. And that blows that rule.

The rule on wine is to handle it with a flair.

That is what we Chevaliers learn at knight school.

elegant side of those golden rails, you are a member of the Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevin.

This translates directly as "The Brotherhood of Knights of Winetasting."

Welcome, Brother! Red or white?

One thing you learn at knight school about wine is that it is touchy and sensitive. Something like a newspaper column writer.

A wine man told me: "I like to think of wine when it is young like a young man of 21, just getting his strength and wisdom."

(Does wine ever look back on the good old days and say: 'I wish I were 21 again'?)

The wine then proceeds to "mature." It puts a small plaster on the house and sends the kids to a satisfactory school. It has a two-car garage with only one car but hopes to get another to run down to the grocery store.

The wine has it made, in other words.

This is the time to drink it.

The greatest press agent for wine was a Persian tippler by the name of Omar Khayyam.

He was born about 1070 — that was an excellent year. (But it turned a little corky as it matured.)

Anyway, Omar stayed on the milk bottle until he was about six months. He then slipped off to the grape. Stayed that way for the rest of his life.

Between times, he wrote poetry:

"A book of verses underneath the bough,

"A loaf of bread, a jug of red

and thou

"If you and I, my dear, could have our wish

"We wish they wouldn't serve red wine with the fish."

That is where we knights come in. We come in and have the wine steward uncork the bottle.

The steward sniffs the cork. I never knew why and was afraid to ask in knight school for fear they would flunk me out. Anyway, he sniffs the cork and looks satisfied. (I never saw one look dissatisfied.)

He pours a little in your glass — just a dollop.

Now you roll this around in the bottom of the glass. You sniff it. You taste it and let it bounce on your tongue. You put down the glass and say:

"Just a shade short of maturity. But an excellent bouquet."

If you leave any in the bottle, the chef gets it with his dinner.

19-Year-Old Sits On Crime Unit

By GORDON WINTERS

Star Staff Writer

Once a month a college sophomore sits down with police chiefs, public defenders, county sheriffs and judges to help find solutions to the state's problems in criminal justice.

The group is known as the State Crime Commission and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln sophomore is Molly Higgins, 19, from Grand Island.

Known as the commission's juvenile representative, Higgins is not about to claim she speaks for all youths in the state.

"It bugs me when people say I represent youth," she said, leaning forward on a couch in the first-floor lounge of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority House where she lives on the UNL campus.

Not Biggest Factor
"I don't think it's realistic. I can't stand for all the youths under 20," she said. "And I don't think age is the biggest factor in deciding what kind of person you're going to be unless you let hard to escape the label."

However, as a member of the State Crime Commission, most of her attention is focused on juvenile problems.

And for a 19-year-old, she has considerable background in how the criminal justice system is attempting to deal with juveniles in trouble.

In her junior year at the Grand Island Senior High School she was named a member of the youth subcommittee of the Region 12 Crime Commission and was a liaison member with the adult commission.

In 1971 Gov. J. James Exon selected her as one of two Nebraska youths to attend the Youth Participation in Juvenile Delinquency Planning Conference in Breckenridge, Colo.

Voting Member

Higgins, who is in secondary education majoring in English and mathematics, was appointed a voting member of the State Crime Commission in October, and she is now a member of the commission's juvenile affairs committee.

One of the things that make juvenile problems hard to deal with, she said, is that a youth may receive a negative label because of an episode and find it hard to escape the label.

"It hurts me to see a person like a young girl who maybe has had an abortion or a baby. She comes back to school and the other girls call her a bitch, and she doesn't even understand sex."

"Maybe it wouldn't have happened if she had someone to talk with," Higgins said.

"People are the most valuable asset you have in preventing juvenile delinquency, not brick walls," she said.

"I support moving away from the idea of punishment to prevention," she said.

Problems Predicted For Missouri Basin

Kansas City, Kan. (AP) — The Missouri River Basin Commission will face problems in bank stabilization, energy shortages and the expected development of large coal deposits, Kansas Gov. Robert Docking has told commission members.

The governor said in an address to the seventh annual meeting of the commission that the group could provide a forum for important discussions and could "play a vital role in developing government policies" affecting the basin.

Docking said the Kansas flood control system was severely tested in 1973 and met the challenge.

The rainfall in calendar year 1973 in our state exceeded that of any year since weather records have been maintained in Kansas," he said.

"Our flood control systems performed as they were designed to perform" in holding back the flood waters.

He said bank stabilization problems have arisen "and they must be dealt with in the near future."

He said the commission has

No Ice Jam Found Near Grand Island

Grand Island (AP) — Reports of ice jams on the Platte River around Grand Island apparently were unfounded, according to a report from the State Patrol.

The patrol said the river was moving freely in the Grand Island and Alda area, and no ice jams existed. Some ice was backing up in low areas and the river was bank to bank.

The National Weather Service office reported water was backing up locally in low areas and that the river was about 70 per cent slush, but "not capable of forming into an ice jam."

Forecasters said it appeared stage fluctuations of 1-2 feet would occur due to ice action in the Grand Island area.

The highest level recorded on the Platte near the Hamilton County bridge was 6.16 feet on March 27, 1960. The current level is 3.78 feet.

IRS Reports Overcharges

Totaling $9,619

Des Moines, Iowa (AP) — Motorists and homeowners were overcharged $9,619 last week by 21 retail service stations and home heating oil distributors in Iowa and Nebraska, according to J. T. Rideout of the Des Moines Internal Revenue Service.

He said the overcharge was the result of incorrect computations of ceiling prices with respect to the various petroleum products. The gasoline and diesel overcharge amounted to one to two cents a gallon and the home heating oil and propane overcharge amounted to a maximum of .9 cents.

The lone Nebraska firm listed by the IRS as overcharging customers was Rite-Way 14, Columbus, Neb., $106.

Investigators said they were shot to death at least three weeks earlier.

things like programs in which people in the community reach out to help families or someone who might have contact with drugs or contact with the law by being a positive contact."

Higgins is putting her ideas into practice as a volunteer in the Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation's Family Project.

One week she meets with a 15-year-old girl and tries to be a positive contact.

"We might go shopping or go to a movie or something like that," she said.

"There is so much to be done in the area of juvenile affairs," she said.

What does she hope can be accomplished while she's a member of the crime commission?

For one thing, she said, she'd like to see the juvenile affairs committee become more of a working force in the commission.

She said she hopes the committee can set priorities for the type of projects submitted for federal funding and she hopes the committee can suggest new approaches to solving juvenile problems.

"There is so much to be done in the area of juvenile affairs," she said.

Kansas City Gas Firm Announces Rate Hike

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Gas Service Co. of Kansas City Thursday put into effect rate increases which will add about 75 cents a month to the bills of its typical household customers in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

The company said the increase resulted from higher rates charged by its main suppliers, Cities Service Gas Co. and Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co.

Gas Service already had received authority from regulatory agencies in the four states to pass on increases in the wholesale rates.

There will be refunds if the Federal Power Commission should find that the wholesale rates are too high.

The company serves more than 200 communities in western Missouri and eastern Kansas — most of them in the Kansas City metropolitan area. It also serves Joplin and St. Joseph in Missouri and Wichita in Kansas and small parts of Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Discount Flood Insurance Set For Beatrice

Washington (UPI) — Beatrice residents will be able to buy flood insurance at about one-tenth the normal cost, Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb., announced Wednesday.

The other 90% will be borne mostly by the federal government through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and, to some extent, by the national casualty insurance industry, Thone said.

The subsidized insurance will be available for residential, business, religious nonprofit organizations and even local governmental property.

The insurance does not offer a solution to the flooding problems Beatrice has encountered with the Big Blue River, Thone said. He added, however, that it will be a while before the city obtains the dikes and dams that are needed to prevent flooding.

Thone urged all Beatrice residents to consider the flood insurance offer for their financial protection. The insurance will be available through all commercial insurance agencies in Beatrice.

Minister's Son Is Indicted For Killing Couple

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A grand jury indicted David Sergio Franco on charges that he killed a young couple whose rotting bodies were found in Kansas City on the same day he was indicted at San Diego on a drug charge.

Franco is a 25-year-old minister's son who was released from federal supervision in June of 1972 after undergoing the psychiatric rehabilitation that was prescribed when he pleaded guilty to draft dodging.

He, his wife, her brother and another young man from Kansas City were indicted at San Diego on Jan. 30.

The same day, the bodies of Terry C. Ott, 25, and Miss Linda Kay Baber, 22, were found hidden under an awning in the basement of a house in a modest residential section on the south side.

Investigators said they were shot to death at least three weeks earlier.

Window Shattered, But Trucker Unhurt

Central City, (AP) — A Broken Bow grain truck driver escaped injury Thursday after an object was thrown at his windshield about six miles west of here, according to the Nebraska State Patrol.

The driver of the truck, Gary Hurlbert, said four men in a two-tone station wagon attempted to flag him down, and when he did not stop, one of the men threw an object at the windshield.

The object hit the windshield and shattered it, but did not enter the cab, Hurlbert reported.

Patrol Capt. L. W. French, Grand Island, said the incident happened shortly afternoon, but that it was not reported for about one hour.

French said he also got an unconfirmed report that a brick had been dropped through the windshield of a tank truck. He said the incident occurred early Thursday afternoon at the Hampton overpass on Interstate 80, but that no official report had been filed.

Apparently there were no injuries, according to French.

French said troopers across the state were alerted to the two incidents, and were told to watch overpasses very carefully.

Stipend Awarded

Bev Holbein, a freshman at the University of Nebraska, has been awarded a $100 scholarship by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce for her "outstanding" 4-H work.

A 3-year-old girl suffering from what is believed to be severe flu complications was taken off the critical list Wednesday night and was reported in fair condition Thursday.

A 10-year-old boy remained in critical condition at the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

Both children are believed to have developed Reye's Syndrome after coming down with a flu-like illness.

Couple Feels Sorry For Armed Intruder

By DEAN TERRILL

Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Dawson — Robert Earl Fritz fired his sawed-off shotgun over John Rutz's head, used the same gun to knock Mrs. Rutz down and then held the aged farm couple prisoner for some 28 hours.

But Rutz, 69, sobbingly told a reporter here Thursday that he "felt sorry for the guy."

"I'm just glad they didn't have to kill him," he said after learning that the fugitive had been captured near Beloit, Kan.

Less than an hour after allegedly wounding Harold Wagner of Auburn and stealing his car Tuesday evening, Fritz had broken into the Rutz's small home 1½ miles west of this Richardson County community. He left in the couple's car, probably about 11 p.m. Wednesday, after locking them in the bedroom overnight.

The only time they had been fearful of their lives, the couple said, was when the Nebraska Penal Complex escapee first entered the house. They had seen him running outside the house and a scuffle ensued when he broke a glass door to gain entrance.

The couple had loaded a .40 shotgun and Mrs. Rutz held the weapon while her husband researched the intruder.

"After he fired over my head, I yelled to Edna to shoot the SOB but she was afraid she'd hit me," recalled Rutz. "Then he hit her over the head with his gun and told us to settle down. He said if we wouldn't fight him he'd treat us right, and from then on he did."

Although Fritz carried two long knives and the shotgun at all times, Rutz said he was "mostly friendly" and talked considerably about three crimes inside the penitentiary. He told the couple he "would rather die than go back there."

"Like a tiger in a cage, that's the kind of strain I've been under," the fugitive was quoted as saying.

Rutz said he was "sure the guy had a mental problem."

Rutz said he had no doubts that they would have been killed had they not obeyed the escapee. He said Fritz kept flashing "a big knife with a hook on it and that's what had me buffaloed."

"He warned us that if anybody drove in he would hold a gun to Edna's head," Rutz continued. "And he added that he would leave then and would take her along."

When they tried to talk him into surrendering, he replied that "they'd shoot me just as soon as I hit town."

"He kept listening to the radio and watching television and he would just go nuts every time he was mentioned," said Rutz. "He's needs treatment real bad."

The couple said he smoked cigarettes almost continuously and "drank a hell of a lot of coffee — more than a pound." He permitted them free movement around the house and had Rutz drive to his mail box as usual to avoid suspicion.

The car stolen from Wagner had been hidden from sight in a barn when Fritz first drove onto the Rutz property. Authorities found it locked and undamaged after the couple called them Thursday morning.

Richardson County Attorney Henry Schepman said the escapee had cut the telephone wires before entering the house. Rutz had spliced them together Thursday morning.

The couple said their captor never specifically identified himself as Fritz, but talked considerably about three crimes of which he has been accused.

Upon hearing one report that he had allegedly raped a woman hostage near Oshkosh, he reportedly told the couple "that's not true, I didn't do that to that woman."

"He threw 10 dollars on the floor once and told us he had to

"As for us, we don't want to press charges for what he did here," said the husband. "The guy is a nervous wreck. He told us if he had had folks like us, he'd be a different guy. But he's a nervous wreck."

Helping calm the couple Thursday were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Carlile of Maryville, Mo. They had contacted the Rutzes after recognizing their car license number in radio reports.

Both Carlile and his wife are former members of the Peru State College faculty.

Exon Asks Road Bond Authority

Gov. J. J. Exon Thursday asked the Legislature to grant him the authority to issue up to $10 million in highway construction bonds.

The request was sent to the lawmakers in the form of a bill, LB1017, which will be handled in the unicameral by Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora.

However, the bill was introduced with the understanding on the part of the administration that the bond issue authority would not be exercised unless there is an emergency.

The issue authority, if not used, would expire on June 30, 1975, according to the bill.

The Exxon administration has traditionally opposed the regular use of highway bonds as a means of financing the state's highway program.

Height Limit Set

TOKYO (AP) — A judge heard complaints from homeowners demanding a "right to sunshine" and then ordered the builder of a high-rise apartment complex to limit the structure's height to 10 stories instead of 16. A suit had been filed by angry neighbors who feared the tall building would keep the sunlight out of their single-family homes.

Eberle Named SUN Finance Director

William H. Eberle, comptroller at the University of Nebraska since June 1972, has been appointed director of business and finance for the SUN (State University of Nebraska) project.

The announcement by Jack McBride, SUN executive director, follows acceptance last Saturday by the University of Nebraska Board of Regents of a federal grant to continue SUN development.

The $934,581 grant, from the National Institute of Education, will permit SUN during the coming year to develop a full-scale operational plan for a modern learning system that will take collegiate instruction into the home.

Responsibility

Eberle will have financial responsibility for the development of the plan.

Among 12 specific federal assignments to SUN are development of two complete college courses for credit and completion of a two-year postsecondary open learning curriculum.

The first of the courses will be accounting. Enrollment is expected to begin by the end of the year.

Failure," and "The Identity Society."

Individuals interested in enrolling in the course, which is offered for two semester units of graduate or advanced undergraduate credit, should contact the registrar at Wayne State College.

"Strategies" is a course about elementary education directed primarily toward elementary and high school teachers. It features Dr. William Glasser, educational innovator, lecturer, and author of "Reality Therapy," "Schools Without

"Failure," and "The Identity Society."

Individuals interested in enrolling in the course, which is offered for two semester units of graduate or advanced undergraduate credit, should contact the registrar at Wayne State College.

In the past 2½ years, three federal agencies have provided NU with grants of more than $880,000 to conduct the research phases of the SUN project.

Appreciation

NU President D. B. Varner, who originated the idea that led to SUN, said this week NU

"greatly appreciates the continuing confidence of the National Institute of Education in the capacity of the University of Nebraska to undertake the nation's most serious investigation of effective uses of technology to make education available to people where they are."

In the past 2½ years, three federal agencies have provided NU with grants of more than $880,000 to conduct the research phases of the SUN project.

Designing Success

The 12-week course, "Designing Success Strategies," is being offered jointly by the Nebraska Educational Television Council for higher Education (NETCHE) and Wayne State College.

The course will be broadcast weekly on the Nebraska ETV Network at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesdays beginning Feb. 20. Repeat broadcasts will be offered at 12:30 p.m. on the following Saturdays.

Members of Governor's Commission Consider Questions, Receive Reports

By LINDA OLIG
Star Staff Writer

Should the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women establish the paid position of executive director?

Should the Commission endorse and financially back the Women's Communication Center (WCC), a representative organization of state and local groups actively involved in women's concerns?

Those questions confronted the Commission at a meeting held Thursday at the Governor's Mansion.

Establishment of the executive directorship, according to Ethel Kirwin of Scottsbluff, chairperson, is a "major undertaking," hinging upon budgetary appropriations and finding "a little space somewhere."

The executive director, should one be hired, would serve as a liaison between the legislature and the Nebraska commission, and between federal commissions and the Nebraska commission. Mrs. Kirwin said:

"In the final analysis, this is the only thing to make the Governor's Commission function adequately and efficiently," the chairperson said.

Also speaking on behalf of the creation of an executive director was commission member Pat Lamberty of Omaha, who said "the executive director in Omaha is what has made that commission (the Omaha Mayor's commission on the Status of Women). Ms. Lamberty said that out of a total budget of $11,000 annually, the Omaha group has seen fit to pay its director $700 per month.

The Governor's Commission proposes to pay its paid staff person $5,000 annually for nearly half-time work the first year.

Kappie Weber, coordinator of the WCC, which was organized under the auspices of the Lincoln YWCA, presented the resolution seeking the commission's endorsement and funds.

The commission had previously been extended an invitation to join some 20 other state and local groups in establishing the WCC. Its membership is composed of groups supporting women's rights and/or women's issues.

Requesting $1,500 from the commission for media-related education programs, Mrs. Weber said, "We are asking you for considerable support because you are the state agency representing every single woman in the state." And she reissued an invitation to the commission "to be part of the entire effort."

The proposed educational programs would be used on a state-wide basis to distribute information on subjects specifically of interest to women.

The resolution was tabled pending further discussion and approval of the commission's budget, which is expected in late March.

In tabling the resolution, Mrs. Kirwin said, "This is major decision for a budget as meager as ours."

The group's proposed budget for the coming fiscal year was not made public. Last year's budget was $12,444, a portion of which was unused and rotated back into general fund.

Commission members also heard reports from committee chairpersons on the implementation of its 1973-74 goals.

Shirley Wilken of Columbus, chairperson of the education and counseling committee, reported that a Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women had been established in her town. She was named a temporary chairperson.

The Columbus Commission is the second mayor's group to be established in the state. Omaha's was the first.

Formation of Mayors' commissions throughout the state is one of the goals of the state-wide body.

Mrs. Kirwin pointed out that mayors' commissions, as opposed to governors' commissions have the potential "to deal with specifics . . . We deal in generalities."

However, Venette Creager said the mayor "feels there are so many women's organizations (in Lincoln) working on the same agencies . . . He fears a duplication of effort" in such areas as equal employment, child care, and abortion.

Ms. Lamberty, chairperson of the talent bank committee, reported on activities furthering the commission's second state goal — compiling a listing of women and their areas of expertise which would enable the commission to make recommendations for appointments to state agencies.

The committee has revised its forms and met with the governor's staff seeking direct information on forthcoming appointments, Ms. Lamberty said. And the state women's talent bank may eventually be tied into one on the national level.

About the proposed "right to life" or anti-abortion bill, LB839, scheduled to be heard in the unicameral Monday, Exxon said, "I have always felt some abortion under certain circumstances should be authorized by the state."

But he said that if he had to choose between endorsing absolute legalization or prohibition of abortion, he would have to choose the latter, although it "goes beyond my position."

Exon Answers Questions

"If I were in the legislature, I would vote for the ERA (Equal Rights Amendment).

"The ERA in and of itself will not thrust women into the front lines or force men and women into the same shower," he said, adding "I don't think women should or want" to give up their rights and privileges.

"The ERA will not necessarily in and of itself put you down from your pedestal . . . from your preferred status."

He was the first governor to appoint a woman to an important judgeship in Nebraska (two additional women have since been appointed), the governor said. Right or wrong, "in society today, a woman basically has more problems than a man in stepping into administrative posts . . . Men are favored."

He also said he was "amused at the controversy" generated by the political affiliations of the members of his Commission on the Status of Women, which is overwhelmingly Democratic.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings has introduced a bill, LB726 which proposes to make the commission split equally along party lines.

"When I make the appointments, I do not consider political affiliations," Exxon said.

"If there is anything political about the Status of Women, I've never been able to tell what it is," he said. "It is representative of the makeup of the women of this state."

When asked whether the commission has the right to take positions on certain issues, the governor said, "I don't attempt to dictate to any body I appoint," but he cautioned the group, "But you wouldn't expect me to back something" merely on "your stand."

"Extremism sets back the cause of women," he further cautioned the commission members.

Let Him Do The Talking

DEAR ABBY: I have a widowed sister who is 10 years older than I am. Edith has always been the good looking one in the family, and she still has a way with men.

Alfred (my husband) is a great kidder, and he used to tell me that he and Edith were having an affair, but I figured if it was true he wouldn't be telling me about it.

Alfred said he was going to a lodge meeting, so you can imagine how I felt when I saw his car parked in front of my sister's house. I rang the doorbell, and her dog barked for 20 minutes before Edith came to the door. Then Alfred appeared because he knew I saw his car was out in front. He said he stopped by to fix her water heater. They both looked guilty as sin. I didn't say anything, but I thought plenty.

A week later I found a letter in Alfred's tobacco pouch. It was in Edith's hand, and addressed to Alfred in care of a post office box I never even knew he had. In the letter she told him how much she "loved" him, and what a close call they had had, and that they would have to be more careful. Alfred is 79, and Edith is 78!

My heart is broken, but a divorce at my age is out of the question. What should I do?

DEAR IN: Tell Alfred you found the letter, and let him do the talking. But don't be too hard on him or Edith. They may not be playing with a full deck.

Name Calling Is Affection

What do you call your spouse, sweetheart or special friend? Dear? Darling? Honey? Dingbat? As part of a Valentine's Day research project, the editorial department at Hallmark Cards conducted a survey on people's favorite terms of endearment.

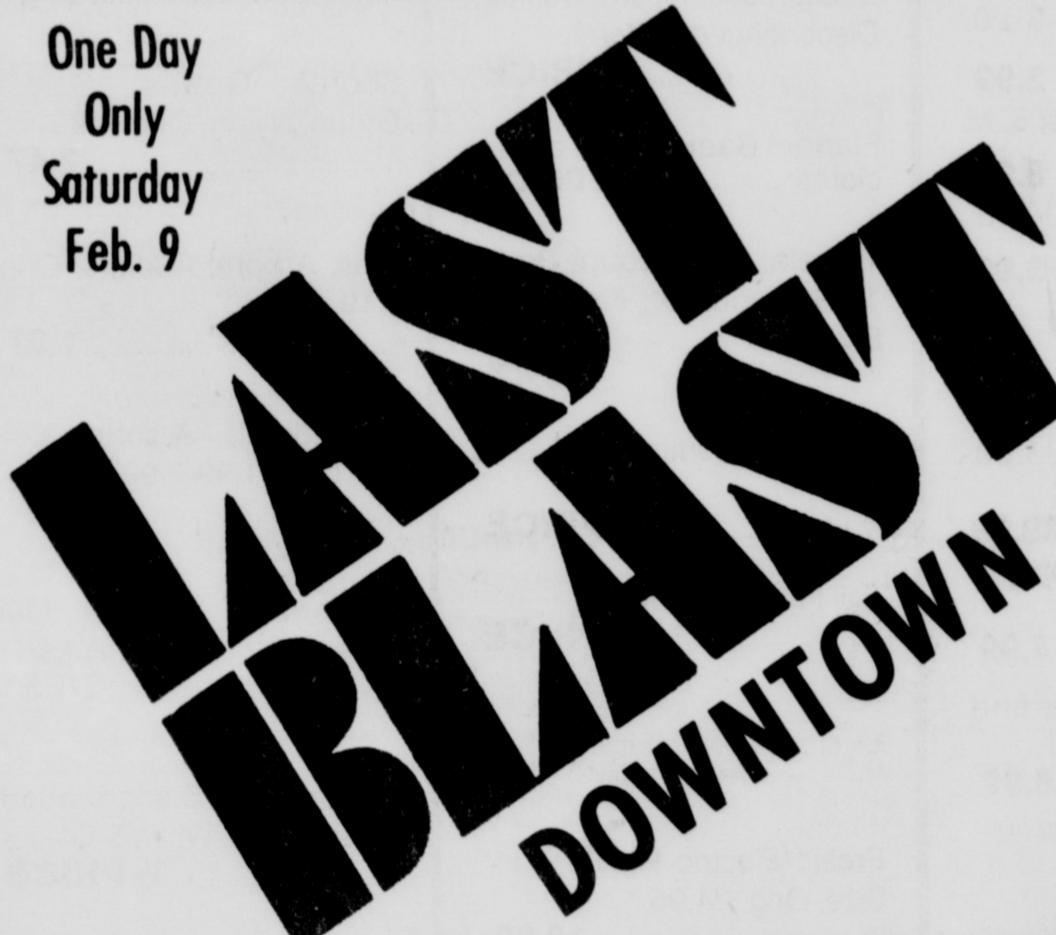

The results were sometimes surprising. Of 142 people questioned, more than half offered terms other than Sweetheart, Darling, Dear or Honey.

Their answers included expressions like Love, Pooh, Sugar and Babe. Certain wives volunteered pet terms like Killer, Doodle-Bug, Bear and Wuvver, while husbands preferred expressions like Tweety, Pumpkin, Dingbat, Squaw and Fat Cat. Single girls often favor "special names" for friends over conventional ones. Among the special names were Creep and Rabbit.

Wesleyan To Present Gilbert And Sullivan Musical

GRACIA SIEB
CYNTHIA JOHNSON

The "Pirates of Penzance" is "one of Gilbert and Sullivan's most popular operettas," although it is "not as frequently produced" as some of their other plays, according to Henry H. Blanke, Jr., director of Nebraska Wesleyan University's Enid Miller Theatre.

Scheduled to open at NWU, Feb. 22, the musical comedy deals with a "band of sentimental and sympathetic pirates" who "talk tough and plan tough engagements but are too sentimental to carry them out," Blanke continued.

Billed as a production which will "be enjoyed by the entire family," the play will feature Jeff Claus of Sutton, Tim Pahel of Colorado Springs, Colo., Sally Warner of Busnell and Susan Vencill of Kimball in the leading roles.

Additional cast members include Mike Farrell of North Platte, Cliff Casey of Marathon, Iowa, Randall Dinsdale of David City, Linda Kelley of Fort Morgan, Colo., Mary Hatch of Omaha and Lynn Moore of Elwood.

The chorus will be under the direction of Mark Madsen, and Dr. Robert Morrow will serve as orchestra conductor. Blanke, Phyllis Blanke and Dennis Murphy will be in charge of stage direction, costuming and lighting, respectively.

In addition to the Feb. 22 performance, the play will be presented Feb. 23, 24 and March 2 and 3. Friday and Saturday evening performances will begin at 8 p.m. and the curtain will rise at 2 p.m. for the Sunday performances.

Tickets will go on sale Feb. 12, and reservations may be made by telephoning the box office, 466-2374, between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m.

Puppeteers Perform

Once again the Lincoln Community Playhouse will feature a performance by the Playhouse Puppeteers, directed by master puppeteer Lee Ridge.

Beginning at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. Friday, the Puppeteers will present "The Queen of Hearts," which also will be shown 10:30 a.m., 2 and 4 p.m. Saturday and 2, 4, and 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Performances will be held in the Playhouse Gallery.

"The Queen of Hearts" is a musical adaptation of two well-known nursery rhymes, "The Queen of Hearts" and "Four and Twenty Blackbirds." Music for the production was scored by Miss Mollie Baldwin and art work was designed by Lee Schoonover.

Since there will be no reserve tickets sold, any large group planning to attend should contract the Playhouse in advance. In addition to the scheduled presentations, special performances also may be arranged.

Union Art Display

Chinese, Tibetan, central Asian and traditional Japanese art work will be on display in the main Lounge of the Nebraska Union from Monday through Wednesday.

Turk International Galleries is providing the collection and will be selling limited edition woodblock prints.

NWU Senior Recital

Donna Sue McConnell of Norfolk will give her senior recital at 10 a.m. Monday in the Nebraska

Wesleyan University Emerson Recital Hall. A mezzo-soprano, she will sing selections by Mendelssohn, Burns, Kirlin, Williams, Weill, Sacco and Bacharach.

"The Ballad of Baby Doe"

Currently being presented at Kimball Recital Hall is the contemporary opera, "The Ballad of Baby Doe," which centers around a saga of the old west.

Performed by the University-Lincoln School of Music, the opera is sung in English and takes place in Denver and Central City, Colo., during the 1880's and 1890's.

Tickets for the performances are on sale at the Westbrook Music Building, Room 113. In addition to the 8 p.m. performances Friday, Saturday and Monday, there will be a Sunday matinee.

Valentines Priced At $30 In 1800's

America's first valentines, made by hand during the middle 1800s, were often expensive. Many cost $5 or $10, and some as much as $30. Then, as production became more mechanized, prices fell and penny valentines eventually became common.

Nowadays, with costs of everything skyrocketing, penny valentines are rare indeed.

Southeast Health Group Adopts $142,335 Budget

By JIM DeCAMP

Star Staff Writer

The Southeast Nebraska Health Planning Council (SeNHPC) voted to adopt a budget of $142,335 for the 1975 fiscal year Thursday night.

That figure was chosen from among four possible budget proposals ranging from $128,245 to $162,290.

SeNHPC executive director Bill Joern said that all of the proposals were based on a four person staff, the only real variables being the possible inclusion of a mental health planner and a research assistant.

'Baby Doe' Not Best By NU Music School

By EARL DYER

Star Staff Writer

A friendly audience warmly greeted the opening night performance of the University of Nebraska School of Music's production of "The Ballad of Baby Doe" Thursday night.

It was a performance with some glowing spots, but it was a long way from the best the NU students and faculty have done in the last few years, perhaps partly because composer Douglas Moore just isn't one of the great operatic composers.

The opera tells the story of Horace Tabor, wealthy silver miner, his first wife, Augusta, and Baby Doe, for whom Horace left Augusta and who clung to him even after he was ruined by the fall of the price of silver.

Best singing of the evening was by John Brandstetter as Tabor, who provided one of the high spots with his remembrance of times past on the stage of the Tabor Theater he had built when wealthy.

Augusta was sung by Lynelle Frankforter and Baby Doe by Sara Ganz.

The three will sing the lead parts again Saturday night, with those parts taken Friday and Sunday by Kent Hall, Terri Miller and Carrie Solomon.

The set was another of the fine creations of Dean Tschetter, although this one seemed to allow — almost to require — all the stage work to intrude upon the opera. The set allowed some fine tableaux, particularly one featuring a speech by presidential candidate William Jennings Bryan.

The opera is being conducted by Richard Grace, musical director, and directed by Roger L. Stephens. Jane Tschetter was responsible for the costumes, which included some beautifully lavish 19th Century gowns for the ladies.

Officials be encouraged to update codes, ordinances, user rates and develop accurate means of record keeping.

The report pointed out that due to the limited manpower and tax base for tax supported local projects, attention must often be given to the wheels that squeak the loudest and not necessarily the most important problems.

The task force inspection of municipal codes, county resolutions, sewage treatment and other things disclosed that in some instances communities are as much as forty years behind in updating their codes, user rates and ordinances.

The suggestion given the highest priority by the task force was the encouragement of community based organizations which increase the potential for localities to analyze their own problems and develop their own solutions.

While various councils and organizations are often in conflict, they do offer the potential for localities to identify their own needs, the report said.

By improving governmental subdivisions' ability to handle all problems, their abilities and resources for dealing with environmental health problems may be improved.

Also Thursday night six new members were added to the council. They are: E.D. Lyman, director of the Lincoln-Lancaster County Health Board; Jerry Shoettger, of Lincoln; Glen Krueger of the Nemaha County Hospital; Rev. Vernon Jones, of Geneva; Willis Davis, of Stromsburg; and John Fischer, of the Humboldt Memorial Hospital.

Home Hit By Blaze

A fire at the Robert Reynolds residence at 3835 So. 37th Thursday night resulted in "considerable" damage to the house and its contents, according to district fire chief Gene Fenner.

Fenner said the fire which took approximately 10 minutes to bring under control gutted a bedroom and storage room in the upper portion of the two and one half story frame structure.

According to Fenner, the cause of the blaze is still under investigation.

Briscoe Would Like To See Zone Pass Defense Barred

By RANDY EICKHOFF

Star Sports Writer

Late in the fourth quarter Wednesday night after the Kansas City-Omaha Kings started to fall behind the Chicago Bulls, a group of youngsters began to cluster around a nattily-dressed man three rows up from the floor and beg him for his autograph. The Super Bowl ring glittered on his right hand as he graciously signed the Kings' program: Marlin Briscoe, Miami Dolphins.

Briscoe, called by defensive backs "The Magician" for his elusive speed, moves, and ability to make the "impossible" catches when long yardage is needed to sustain a drive. Briscoe, traded to the Dolphins by the Buffalo Bills for linebacker Dale Farley and the Dolphins' first choice in the 1973 draft. Briscoe, who, combined with Paul Warfield, gives Miami one of the most feared passing attacks in professional football.

But what's it like to be an individual receiver on a team noted for its crushing ground game consisting of Larry Csonka, Mercury Morris and Jim Kiick?

"What's it like?" Briscoe repeated with a thoughtful gleam in his eye. "I'll tell you. It's like being surrounded in a pit full of money with both hands amputated. But even more, it's knowing what you can do if you're needed that will help the team because you know it's a basic thing. And you, yourself are basic."

Basic thing? Just what Briscoe meant by a basic thing was simply an extension of modesty by the quiet-spoken 5-11, 180-pound UNO graduate. You're not a basic person if you've played on two Super Bowl teams.

"Well," he smiled. "I mean that both Paul (Warfield) and I have shown that we're individual receivers. We both have different moves, but we both do the basic thing — catch passes."

Briscoe is the first to admit that that's a hard occupation to hold down — especially on the Dolphins. Let's face it, the running game is the main thing for Miami.

Why then, you may ask, does Briscoe play for Miami? Why be a receiver on a running team? Why, in fact, is Miami a running team with Briscoe and Warfield on it?

A lot of reasons, but the main reason is a touchy one with Briscoe. It's one he'd like to see changed.

"The zone," he said firmly. "I'd like to see the zone defense barred. But I'm not the only one. Most of the fans would like to see it barred also."

"It (the zone) is taking the passing attack away from the zone. When a team only throws 13 passes in two games (as Miami did) then the fans get a little restless. We've received letters from the fans who say the game is losing its lustre because the zone is taking away the long bomb and even the medium-range pass."

Most receivers, however, state their main dislike about the game is the bump-and-run defense originated by Kent McCoughan, ex-defensive back for Oakland. Briscoe disagrees.

"I don't mind the bump-and-run," he said. "That brings out the best in a receiver and a defensive back. At that time, it's just one against another and, if you're good enough, you can take advantage of the defensive back. But you have to be quick to beat them. Once you do, it's a great feeling inside to know that you've gone against the best and won."

"With the zone, however, it's not just one man against another. It's one man or two or three, depending on how many receivers are out, against the whole defensive backfield. The feeling of accomplishment if you beat the zone is just not there."

What was his toughest game last year? "The game in Oakland," he said without hesitation. "The first game when they beat us soundly. They shut down our offense and moved the ball against our defense. We won the next time, but that first game we were definitely beat."

Was it because the team was down emotionally?

"No," he said. "You don't get that way with (Don) Shula as a coach. He keeps you up whether it's with a fiery speech or a subtle approach. He doesn't have a lot to do with the individual motivations, because like I said that's an individual thing. Besides, everybody's up for the game."

"Shula has high standards for performances, but he gets them because he's recruited right to off-set whatever other factors may be thrown in," he continued. "On the field everybody is his own coach."

Off the field is another story. That's when a lot of ballplayers like to be themselves without the fans' recognition. Not with Briscoe.

"That's never really happened to me," he said. "As a matter-of-fact, this is the first time I've been recognized like this." He indicated the impatient faces of the youngsters waiting with programs, cancelled tickets, popcorn boxes, and other scraps of paper. Kids with eager faces, eager to talk with their hero.

A red-haired man with lines deeply-etched in his face pushed his way through the crowd and thrust a program and pen in front of Briscoe and demanded his autograph.

"I played against you in high school," he said loudly enough for all to hear.

"That's nice," Briscoe said and quickly signed his name. "I don't even mind that," he said as the man walked away.

"I don't have any difficulty adjusting myself outside of football. But I'm different. I come from a small school where the adulation isn't as great for the things you do in football. People take to you in Miami, but they have respect for you as a person."

They're not trampling all over you and sticking pens in your face."

Getting back to the zone defense he said: "I think one thing they could do is to offer some modifications. They could limit its use or else widen the field to give the receiver more area to explore while he's running his patterns. The size of the Canadian field, for example would limit the use of the zone and aid the receiver more."

Other areas he'd like to see changed would be the pension plan "updated to meet the rising cost of living," shorter pre-season games, widow benefits, and . . . synthetic turf.

"I don't like it (synthetic turf)," he said. "Most players don't. It's too hard on the legs, it burns the player when he hits it and it could lead to other injuries besides knee."

"What I mean is the turf is hard, there's no give when you hit. Supposedly, it was supposed to minimize injuries, but that was just knee injuries. I think it might have contributed to other, ankle and collarbone injuries. But we need specific evidence for that and I haven't got it."

The lights dimmed in Civic Auditorium and he turned around startled. "How about that," he grinned. "I missed the game. But that's okay. Like I said, this has never happened to me before." He gathered up his coat and moved towards the exit with the kids still tagging along. He stopped and patiently signed autographs until everyone had his treasure.

"I'm leaving for Washington soon to meet with other player representatives (he's an alternate) and go over what we'd like changed," he said. "We'll outline our desires and give them to the owners at their meeting."

He stood and quietly chatted for a few more moments then turned to go. It may have been a new experience for him but it will undoubtedly become a familiar role . . . and soon.

STUTZMAN WINS Green Dethrones Pearson

By RANDY EICKHOFF

Star Sports Writer

Ron Stutzman took a giant step towards retaining his Southeast District Golden Gloves heavyweight title Thursday night by collecting a decisive victory over Doug Metzger of Fairbury.

Stutzman, 200, the defending Midwest Golden Gloves champion as well, gave away eight pounds in weight and almost a foot in reach to the giant Metzger but used savage fighting to advance to the finals in the tournament at Pershing Auditorium Friday at 8 p.m.

Metzger carried the fight to the puncher, slipping wild rights and smothering jabs but fell prey to a hard right hook that knocked him down momentarily. Stunned, he fought back for the rest of the round then recovered during the rest period and won the third round.

The first technical knockout of the night took place when Kenneth Wilson, 132, MSU, caught up with Nick McAtee, 129, Fairbury, at 1:35 of the first round and unleashed a barrage that left the Fairbury fighter laying across the bottom rope. Archie Robinson, another MSU fighter but in the 178-pound division, took the only other knockout by stopping Jeff Campbell, 178, S & D, at 1:25 of the second.

Only three divisions were decided Thursday night when the fighters were uncontested. Herman Chapman was named the 112-pound champion, Jim Thornburg, 115, Fairbury, at 119-pound while Ray Menefee was unchallenged and won his second title in as many years but in a lower division — 125.

Friday will have several exhibition bouts with Menefee fighting two rounds each with John and Steve Kreifels. Professionals Mike Wilson and Lonny Crosby will also put on an exhibition as will Monte Cady and Dino Phillips.

Monzon, Napoles Eye Middleweight Fight

PARIS (AP) — After Boyle's Thirty Acres, where Jack Dempsey did in Georges Carpenter in 1921 and St. Dom's Youth Center in Lewiston, Maine where Sonny Liston got it in '65 from the then Cassius Clay, Adel Productions now can offer boxing history a Belgian circus tent pitched in Puteaux, France.

A leech of a municipality on the carcass of the neighboring capital here, Puteaux will have its hour or two Saturday night when it provides the cleared out subway entrance that will contain the tent that will house the world middleweight championship between the title-holder, Carlos Monzon of Argentina, and welterweight champion Jose Napoles of Mexico.

It could have had worse, though. Alain Delon, the movie actor who is promoting the fight through Adel Productions, his film outfit, almost got stuck with an island in the Seine River as a site and its attendant rowboat problem.

Now, with boxing interest momentarily waning after the second Ali-Frazier fight, Delon has had some trouble selling Monzon and Napoles to television.

sion around the world. As of Thursday, he still hadn't closed a deal with Eruovision, the European television cooperative.

"This is a damn crying shame," said George Parinous, the boxing money man out of Los Angeles who serves as godfather in the Napoles camp.

"Forget about the circus tent. But this is a genuine great fight, one of the good ones since World War II, and it's terribly under-promoted. Somebody called up Cucco Conde (Napoles' manager) yesterday to ask him if it was going to be on closed circuit in the States. My God, yes."

Ted Cohen, who has been trying to sign Miss Evert to a contract for his WTT entry, said, "She's told me more than once that she would like to settle down, get married, have a family and get off the tennis whirlwind."

"But who knows what will happen. She's 18 years old, in love, and she doesn't know what she wants to do yet. They don't even know when they're going to get married. They've talked about May, they've talked about October."

"We solicited comments from other tracks in the state and none of them were against the bill which would allow Sunday horse racing on any track that does not want it but would allow those that do to offer it to the public.

That the bill would aid Atokad revenue because of its proximity to Park Jefferson in South Dakota was brushed over by Smith who was limited to fifteen minutes of discourse by the committee.

Sen. Murphy said the bill would simply amend section 2-1213 and explained that it would help "promote agriculture and aid horse breeding in the state of Nebraska."

"The law presently in effect was drawn in 1935 during the days of prohibition," he said and indicated that he believed the present bill would update that law.

Quoting from an article in the Lincoln Star, Smith said Al Swihart (Fonner Park) and Henry Brandt (Fairgrounds) indicated that they had no opposition to the passage of the bill.

Reiterating himself, Smith emphasized that the bill would

Sunday Racing Gets Hearing

By RANDY EICKHOFF

Support for Sen. John Murphy's LB 692 was heard Thursday by the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee of the Nebraska Legislature from representatives of Atokad in South Sioux City.

Representing the many interested parties was Rodney Smith, appearing as the treasurer of the executive board of Atokad, who said in a survey taken by the board no dissenting parties were heard from.

"We solicited comments from other tracks in the state and none of them were against the bill which would allow Sunday horse racing in the state of Nebraska," Smith said. "The bill is mainly for Atokad and does not force other tracks in the state to have Sunday racing. If the other tracks want it, they have to apply for it."

Smith said the Atokad personnel also contacted the states that presently hold Sunday racing and they indicated that that was the biggest day for attendance.

Elder, Harris Share Desert Classic Lead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Methodical Labron Harris shot a two-under par 70 and struggling Lee Elder had a one under 71 Thursday to share the second round lead in the $160,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Playing in nearsummer-like weather in contrast to Wednesday's opening round when the wind gusted to 30 miles an hour, scores were much lower as Harris, with an eagle, three birdies and three bogeys played Indian Wells in 36-34.

Elder, shooting for his first tournament victory ever, carded his 71 at tougher Bermuda Dunes and had four birdies and three bogeys.

That gave Elder and Harris a one-shot lead on six players headed by Johnny Miller. Six others were at two-under 142, just two shots off the lead.

Mike Reasor and Hubert Green had three-under 69s. John Mahaffey a 70 and John Lister a 71, all at La Quinta, and Grier Jones shot a 69 at Indian Wells to tie Miller at 141.

Miller, who opened the year with three consecutive victories, shot a three-under 69 at El Dorado. That gave him 17 consecutive rounds of par or less.

The 142 group was made up of first round leader Mark Hayes, Mike McCullough, John Jacobs, and J. C. Sneed, Jim Wiechers and Bobby Nichols.

The group, Jacobs and Wiechers had the best secondround scores—five-under 67s.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer, shooting for his sixth Hope victory, improved to a two-under 70 at El Dorado and was in a group tied at 146, two-over par and six shots off the lead.

Harris, winner of $38,502 last year, said there was nothing sensational about his round.

"I played better than in the first round," said the 33-year-old Harris, "but I didn't putt as well."

Elder, his sore left wrist still a problem, didn't putt well and now has missed 21 putts inside 12 feet in two rounds here.

"I'm probably hitting the ball better than I have ever have in my life," said the 40-year-old Elder, "but I'm not striking the ball with any confidence on the green."

Elder's longest birdie putt was a 50-footer at the 14th hole, while Harris got his eagle on the 18th when he put his two iron second shot within 20 feet of the hole and then ran it down.

The Hope Classic is a 90-hole event over four courses and the cut to the low 70s and ties won't be made until after Saturday's fourth round. Victory is worth $32,000.

The Associated Press — The bill designed to permit coyote hunting from public roads other than the interstate highway was passed 44-2 on final reading in the legislature Thursday.

Because it carries the emergency clause, the bill will become law the moment it is signed by Gov. J. James Exon.

An earlier law had been interpreted to prohibit coyote hunting from any roadway, and agricultural interests sought the change to permit better control of coyotes, a predator becoming increasingly numerous.

The bill, LB699, was sponsored by Sen. Dennis Rasmussen of Scotia. Opposition votes on final reading were passed by Sens. Blair Richenhof of Walthill and George Syas of Omaha.

Passed 44-1 was Crofton Sen.

Jules Burbach's LB17, variously revising the state's weights and measures law to erase objections raised since its original enactment.

The bill sets out specific inspection fees for devices which weigh or measure substances sold. Previously, the state agriculture director has been empowered to set the fees and there were numerous objections that the fees had been excessively high.

World Economic Differences Described As Explosive

By MILAN WALL

Star Staff Writer

Three foreign diplomats said here Thursday they believe it's not possible to over-dramatize the explosive potential in the great economic gap between the developed and underdeveloped nations of the world.

The three were in Lincoln to speak to the 500 delegates at the seventh annual Nebraska Model United Nations Conference at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"We must dramatize the gaps," suggested Mladen Soic, a member of the Yugoslav Information Center and a journalist whose first American assignment was to cover the U.N.

"We wouldn't have had Vietnam, the Middle East" and other international crises "if people had understood the substance of this problem," said Soic. "When people become conscious of their own situation, sooner or later they will organize themselves."

Will Take Action

"They will not ask how to solve the problem," he suggested, but will take action to resolve it.

Patrick Leclercq, first secretary of the Permanent Mission of France to the U.N., said he shared Soic's views of the necessity to dramatize the gap between the world's richer and poorer nations, but he said "not having the same philosophical background" he wouldn't explain all wars on an economic basis.

Frank X. J. C. Njenga, first secretary of the Kenyan Mission to the U.N., said he believes that background (of history) have been between the developed countries," Leclercq reminded reporters at a news conference.

He noted that during the last General Assembly session most resolutions of two important committees were adopted by consensus. He described that as a "very positive trend."

the United Nations, "if entrusted with more funds from the developed countries, can go a long way toward aiding the developing countries."

Getting Lukewarm

"The problem," Njenga said, "is that most of the developed countries seem to be getting lukewarm since the addition of numerous members" to the U.N.

"Once the United Nations was seen as an extension of the foreign policies of the developed western countries and then they had more enthusiasm for its potential," he suggested.

"Since then the U.N. has changed hands," he said, referring to the large numbers of developing countries which now constitute a majority of U.N. members.

Leclercq, however, took issue with that assessment, suggesting that it was a matter of reality that when a majority of members were western nations, the majority naturally "tended to work in favor of this group."

He noted that during the last General Assembly session most resolutions of two important committees were adopted by consensus. He described that as a "very positive trend."

All resolutions adopted will be forwarded to the United Nations in New York, said Terry Mahlman, a senior University of Nebraska-Lincoln student. Mahlman is secretary general of the Model U.N.

The first day began with committee meetings, where resolutions were discussed for transmission to the General Assembly. It will begin discussion of them Friday and complete action by Saturday afternoon.

The shortage of corn, estimated at 1.5 million bushels valued at approximately $4 million, apparently was caused through the feeding of the corn to cattle of other owners and/or investors maintained in feedlots owned and operated by National, according to IBP.

IBP Misappropriation Involved Use Of Corn

DAKOTA CITY, Neb. (AP)—

Iowa Beef Processors, Inc., Thursday said a $4 million misappropriation in an account receivable involved corn which was to be fed to cattle in the Atkinson, Neb., area.

A statement earlier this week from J. Fred Haigler, company president, said the misappropriation created a shortage of approximately 50 per cent of its collateral securing a $7.8 million account.

The firm said Thursday the collateral was represented by a security interest in three million bushels of corn which had been treated and processed for cattle feeding.

The corn was purchased by IBP from the National Alfalfa Milling and Dehydrating Co. of Kansas and was subsequently sold by IBP to a third party investor as part of a joint cattle feeding venture.

Haigler said IBP has taken steps to protect its legal rights to the 1.5 million bushels of corn remaining. He added as a precautionary measure IBP is reserving the potential $4 million loss against first quarter 1974 earnings.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message letters under the checked figures give you.
